Sunday Times Tells Where PASTORS TO CONFER Kewpies Are Made

Know a Kewpie when you see one?

Ever see a thin one? No one else ever did eitherfirst requisite-round tummy. But a thin person, who is VERY small, can qualify as a Kewpie if he gets his tummy round and his cheeks pink.

Well-this is a real scoop-Florence E. Yoder tells in The Sunday Times where they MAKE KEWPIES.

Thin babies, sick babies, whining babies, all guaranteed to be turned into Kewpies if given over to some CERTAIN PARTIES, accompanied by their Ma's.

Round tummies, sweet dispositions, and red cheeks MADE WHILE THEY WAIT.

Where is this place? Read The Sunday Times and satisfy your curiosity for one cent.

A Conductor for Presidents.

Andrew Johnson started this business of Presidential touring. He shattered the precedent that Presidents should remain near Washington. In Washington lives the conductor who had charge of every Presidential special since Cleveland's time. He gives, through J. R. Hildebrand, an interesting commentary on the personal habits of recent White House occupants.

Block Island, returned to Washington, Do You Make the Most of Your Opportunities?

Or has it never occurred to you that you may make the family of which you are a representative, a noted one? Right here in Washington, an employe of the Government, born a papoose and cradled on a board, lives a woman who is a living testimonial to the capabilities of her race. Her story is told by Beth Jeffries in The Sunday Times.

Jean Eliot's Sunday Gossip.

If you were playing golf at a country club, lost your ball, and the President of the United States came along and gave you one of his, what would you do? Jean Eliot tells in The Sunday Times a most interesting story of such an incident, with about twenty other interesting society items in her Sunday letter.

Secrets of Waste Baskets.

The waste paper baskets in the offices of the 435 Congressmen in the House Office building tell some peculiar tales. Thousands of pounds of waste paper accumulate every month in the House Office building, and a Times reporter has ascertained what becomes of it. He has been privileged to glimpse into some of the secrets of the waste paper baskets, too.

First Watermelons Here From Virginia Fields

Washington received its first consignment of watermelons grown in the nearby melon districts of Virginia today. Two carloads arrived at the fish wharf, foot of Seventh street southwest, about daybreak. Both vessels were laden to capacity with melons were laden to capacity with melons from the Cone river districts. One brought 4,500 melons while the other 1,900. The captains of both declared that it would not be many hours before a dozen or more melon laden crafts will arrive at the local wharf. While the dealers expect a good melon season it is stated that the heavy rains washed the first planting out of the ground in the big melon patches on the eastern shore of Virginia, and the growth of the second planting has been retarded by dry weather.

loose them as he will. "If light is in him he shines; if darkness rules he shades; if corrupt he poisons; if pure hearted he cleanses." Whence come these makers of joy who like Stevenson's Lantern Bearers, carry their lighted lamps with them everywhere? Be it remembered that no torch is lighted of itself, however it may kindle others when once on fire. Inscribed upon the escutcheon of the Johns Hopkins University is this legend, "Veritas Vos Liberabit," "The Truth Shall Set You Free." A church is the keeper of this sacred flame: its God is truth. The chief function of the church is to make men live the truth, for it is useless unless we use it.

Those who are faithful to their church are respected in every community. They are the makers of joy; the bestowers of favors; the common denominators for the solving of life's problems. The man who is careless of his own influence or of the good he can do, might pass the open door of the church with indifference; but he who desires the thrill of mastery and the purpose to make the world his debtor, will pause and enter, for he knows that the greatest benefit of the church is not in what it has done for itself, but in what its followers have done for all men. Give the church a chance to demonstrate its value in your life.
